PROCEEDS

The foundation seeks to sell utility tokens for current use in existing infrastructure and that will migrate and be usable and included in future growth including but not limited to the extension and development of an RFID inventory management system. This is an open ledger and smart contracts, utilizing blockchain technology in place of the existing client server technology that is currently in place serving one client, DESIGNERS CIRCUS.com.

The same platform after testing is expected to be extended to encompass an internet of things which is a much larger ecosystem. This will not occur until we are sufficiently happy with the platform.

The company expects to use various professional 3rd party experts in multiple aspects of the project, which can raise the cost but shorten the time frame.

Time must be allocated to the early stages of the technology and maturing cycle.
